

Take Action!

Below are ways you can engage on this topic beyond the event.

1.

Visit the National Center for Civil and Human Rights!

100 Ivan Allen Jr Blvd NW, Atlanta, GA 30313
civilandhumanrights.org

2.

Visit the Equal Justice Initiative in Montgomery!

122 Commerce St, Montgomery, AL 36104

3.

Bring True Justice into the lives of students!

With a grant from the Blank Family Foundation, Kunhardt Film Foundation teamed up with Blueshift Education to produce free tools that teachers can use to bring the film into the classroom.

- If you are teacher, visit Kunhardt Film Foundation (kunhardtfilmfoundation.org/educator-resources) for access to all True Justice educational library materials.
- If you're not a teacher, send the link to a teacher or student you love.

Participate in the Equal Justice Initiative's Community Remembrance Project!

EJI's Community Remembrance Project endeavors to bring community members together to honor victims of racial terror lynchings, to make our history of racial injustice more visible across the American landscape, and to begin necessary conversations that advance truth and reconciliation. Join thousands of individuals in over a dozen states, who have participated in our marker installations, soil collections, racial justice essay contests for local students, and other community remembrance activities, and who are seeking to claim their monuments from the National Memorial for Peace and Justice and install them in their permanent homes in the counties they represent.

- For more information about EJI's Community Remembrance Project, please email memorialmonument@eji.org.

5.

Join the Fulton County Remembrance Coalition!

The Fulton County Remembrance Coalition is a grassroots collective of individuals currently engaged in EJI's Community Remembrance Project.

- To learn more about how you can be involved in the coalition's efforts, please visit www.fultonremembrance.org or email fultonremembrance@gmail.com

Watch the entire film with your friends!

- Starting December 26, 2019: The film will be available to stream from the Kunhardt Film Foundation website (kunhardtfilmfoundation.org).
- Host a screening and bring the film to your community: The Kunhardt Film Foundation and Picture Motion are working with organizations and individuals across the nation to host community-oriented screenings. To learn more, email truejustice@picturemotion.com or sign up at bit.ly/hosttruejustice
